

Alfred Cove Art Society October/November Newsletter

Notes from the President

Here we are at another AGM, Thursday 31st October will mark 3 years since Jan became Secretary and myself President. I do hope that lots of you will come along and support your club and maybe even volunteer to take on some small tasks.

We have a guest speaker on the night, Tom Murrell. Our painting challenge is "Marine" and there will be wine and nibbles for the evening. It is a full programme so please arrive early so that we can commence promptly at 7pm.

Our next big event is 'Painterly' our November exhibition, opening on Friday 7th November at 6.30pm. We have been inundated with entries so I can fairly safely say that we will not be able to hang them all, but we will do our best and hopefully have a very aesthetic exhibition. For this to be a success we need everyone of you to spread the word, both through the internet and word of mouth. We are opening until 7pm on Saturday 8th November as Melville has an event in the park behind the gallery and we are hopeful those guests will visit us too. Would members please bring with them a plate of finger food to share.

Open Painting sessions will continue to be held on the second Sunday of every month, the next session is on November 9th, 12.30 – 4pm in Room 1. Unfortunately, we only had one member turn up for the October session. We desperately need one or two volunteers to be responsible for this. This is a session where members and new people are welcome to attend for the cost of $5. Bring along a friend!

Portraiture quickly follows this on Wednesday, 12th November, 6.30 – 9pm in Room 1. It will be our final session for the year.

Let us not forget the Christmas Bazaar on 6th December. The committee will have an information table on the day, but if some of you would like to run a stall please let me know as there is some space outside on the verandah.

Christmas lunch at the RAAFA is coming up on 18th December. Cally is taking names of those who wish to attend. The cost is $50 and should be paid in cash to Cally or forwarded by bank transfer to:

ACAS BSB: 066-163, Account: 10387314.

When doing so please note your name and the event you are attending.

Please consider volunteering for the committee, we are a friendly group and would really welcome some newcomers. Jan would love to hear from you. 0427 354 582
